Outer Banks Seafood Festival Seeking Vendors and Sponsors

Applications are still being accepted for the October 18, 2014, event in Nags Head.

Nags Head, N.C. -- Are you an artist, restaurant or nonprofit organization that would like to get your products or messages in front of nearly 7,000 people in one off-season day?

The Outer Banks Seafood Festival, set for October 18, is now accepting applications for arts and crafts vendors, food vendors, and educational and nonprofit vendors. With thousands of people attending the day-long festival, the festival is a proven way to reach customers and educate the public. Vendors are encouraged to get their applications in as soon as possible, well before the deadline of June 30.

“Quite a few applications have already come in, but we still have room for more,” says Lee Nettles, chairman of the Outer Banks Seafood Festival. “All spots are limited this year, so we are recommending that you get those applications in!”

Applications are available online at www.outerbanksseafoodfestival.org/become-vendor.

TowneBank and Outer Banks Visitors Bureau have signed on as presenting sponsors for the 2014 event, and the festival planning committee is selling additional sponsorship packages at this time. Sponsorship levels include $7,500, $5,000, $2,500, $1,000, $500 and several other levels of in-kind and monetary sponsorships that include many benefits. To become an official 2014 Outer Banks Seafood Festival sponsor, go to outerbanksseafoodfestival.org/sponsor or contact Kat Reilly at sponsors@outerbanksseafoodfestival.org or 252-599-7132.

The Outer Banks Seafood Festival will be held on Saturday, October 18 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the soundside Outer Banks Event Site at milepost 15.5 in Nags Head. The theme for this year’s Festival – Outer Banks, Seafood Proud! – reflects the appreciation that Outer Banks residents and visitors have for the local seafood products and the hard-working people who harvest and prepare them.
